

One user account can add, activate, deactivate, delete and edit any number of the listed services. at this point, the same old wizard will be followed to complete editing the services. the user can always comeback to this screen to modify the services if he wished.